HARMON'S BOOM FOR PRESIDENT

STARTS WHEN OHIO RE-ELECTS HIM GOVERNOR.

SOME INGENUOUS "DOPE"

Arranged and Catalogued By Democratic Admirers Serves To Prove Him A Man Of Destiny.

Columbus, O., Feb. 3.—Governor Jackson Harmon, whose boom for the Democratic presidential nomination appears to be meeting with much favor in many parts of the country, and particularly in the South, received a flood of congratulatory messages today on the occasion of his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary. Governor Harmon is not discussing the question of his presidential candidacy just now. He expects to be a candidate for reelection to the governorship. If he is successful in the coming state campaign it is accepted as a foregone conclusion that his name will be presented for the head of the ticket at the next Democratic national convention.

On the basis of precedent, it would seem that no man in public life today could stand a much better chance of being elected president than Governor Harmon. Any student of the presidential "form" sheet would certainly post the Ohio governor as a sure winner.

To begin with, he is a native of Ohio, which state has furnished more occupants of the White House than any other state of the Union, with the single exception of Virginia, which has one more president to her credit than Ohio.

He is a lawyer by profession, as were Presidents Adams, Jefferson, Madison, J. Q. Adams, Jackson, Van Buren, Tyler, Polk, Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan, Lincoln, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland, Harrison, McKinley and Taft.

He has served as state governor, as did Presidents Jefferson, Monroe, Jackson, Van Buren, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Polk, Johnson, Hayes, Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt.

He has the benefit of experience as a cabinet officer, as did Presidents Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, J. Q. Adams, Van Buren, Buchanan, Grant and Taft.

The very name of the Ohio governor is the one for the political prophets to conjure with. He has no middle name, which is a distinction he shares with no fewer than eighteen occupants of the presidential chair. His name contains the letter "a," which occurs in the name of each president excepting Tyler's and Roosevelt's.

Governor Harmon's name, ends with the letter "n," which is the final surname letter of ten presidential names. To make his election absolutely sure, all Governor Harmon will have to do is to secure a running mate also with the letter "n." The only presidential candidate whose name ended with the letter "n" who failed of election when the name of the vice presidential candidate also ended with "n" was William J. Bryan. Bryan and Watson, Bryan and Stevenson and Bryan and Kern furnish the only exceptions to the rule.

All other presidential candidates whose surnames ended with the letter "n" with a vice presidential candidate whose surname ended with the letter "n" were elected, as Jefferson and Clinton, Madison and Clinton, Jackson and Calhoun, Jackson and Van Buren, Van Buren and Johnson, Lincoln and Hamlin, Lincoln and Johnson and Harrison and Morton.

CONVICTS EXCITED BY FIRE AT JOLIET

Flames Destroy Engine and Powerhouse at Illinois State Prison.

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 3.—The convicts of the state penitentiary were excited today by a fire which destroyed the engine room and extended to the powerhouse. No attempts to escape were made. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The loss is a hundred thousand dollars. The state carries no insurance. A negro convict and prisoner and English Abdiel were overcome by smoke. Both will recover.

MAN HIGHER UP IS STILL BEING SOUGHT

City Engineer of Chicago Tries to Blame Busse With the Craft.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 3.—City Engineer Erickson today, before the Morrison investigating committee, stated that higher city officials had never encouraged him in his efforts to prevent the wasting of the city funds. On one occasion when he said three hundred thousand dollars was too much to pay for a pumping station, Mayor Busse said: "The sooner you get out of the employ of the city the better it will be for me." The mayor denied the above statement.

DAYS OF GRAFT ARE SAID TO BE ENDED

New York City Is Undergoing a Political House Cleaning These Days.

New York, Feb. 3.—This city is now undergoing a political housecleaning, such as has not taken place since the overthrow of the Tweed ring more than a generation ago. It is a safe guess that nine out of ten men wearing particularly worried expressions are politicians, for the reforms which have been instituted by the new administration are so radical and far-reaching that politics, formerly a lucrative profession, now offers to the old guard an extremely precarious livelihood at best. District and precinct leaders have suddenly discovered that there is no plum tree to shake and city employees are rapidly learning that they are no longer the possessors of sinecures. Indeed, they are now required to work from nine in the morning until five in the afternoon and to record their earnings and gaffs on time clocks—a state of affairs which has caused a tremendous wall. The police are on tenterhooks as a result of the summary discharge of several members of the force for too enthusiastic use of their clubs. Indeed one veteran who has grown gray in the service during years of clubbing and rough but effective methods of dragging prisoners to the station house, expressed himself of the possibility of the police being kept on as they are going at present as "police gentlemen" when desiring to make an arrest will be restricted to the shoulder and inquiring if he can with- out inconvenience accompany an officer to the nearest station house. Incidentally this wholesale housecleaning is enabling the public to pick clean all sorts of bargains at remarkable prices. At a cleaning out sale of vehicles which the new fire commission found in the department station house a broadway which cost the city $2,500 sold for $60; an electric automobile runabout brought $20 and two sleighs $57. Only $667 was realized on goods which though never needed had cost the city over $10,000. Although pickings are becoming very few and far between, and the professional politician is facing about the leanest four years which could well be imagined in this city.

MAKE STATEMENT AS TO GOLDMAN AFFAIR

President Van Hise Says University Had Nothing to Do With Her Coming to Madison, and That She Did Not Speak in Any Place Under University Control.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 3.—"As there has been some misunderstanding in regard to the relation of the University of Wisconsin to Miss Emma Goldman on her recent visit to Madison, I desire to make the following statement in regard to the facts," said President Charles R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin this morning in an interview.

"First—The university authorities had nothing whatever to do with Miss Goldman's coming to Madison.

"Second—None of the meetings held in connection with her visit to the city were held in buildings over which the university authorities have any control whatsoever.

"Third—None of the university authorities have taken any action which can fairly be construed as approving of Miss Goldman's doctrines. The only action which could possibly be interpreted as countenancing Miss Goldman's teachings was the announcement by one professor of a lecture to be given by her. Even this lecture in connection with the same professor made the announcement he showed the fallacies of philosophic anarchism, in tracing the evolution of government from coercion to beneficent service, and in emphasizing the legitimate grounds of government and support of its citizens.

"In view of these facts a great injustice is done the university by the implication that the university authorities sympathize with or give encouragement to the doctrines advocated by Miss Goldman."

EDITOR OF THE NEW THOUGHT IN TROUBLE

Sidney Flower, More Recently Publisher Of Gold Field Gospel, Charged With Fraudulent Use Of Mails.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Sidney Flower, once well known as a promoter, whose part and later as a publisher, whose financial schemes in the past brought him into conflict with the authorities in Chicago, Buffalo and other cities, is again in trouble. Today he was arrested by United States Commissioner Foster to answer to an indictment recently found against him in Nevada, charging him with fraudulent use of the mails. Several years ago Flower attained notoriety as the editor and owner of the New Thought Magazine. Recently he has been publishing Gold Field Gospel, a weekly mining journal, and was known in Goldfield as Premier Kent. The magazine was published, it is charged, for the purpose of exploiting gold mining schemes.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—The Smoot amendment to the postal savings bank bill prohibiting the withdrawal for investment of postal funds from banks in which they might be deposited so long as the banks were willing to pay 2 1/2% interest, was agreed to in a slightly modified form by the senate today.

LIFE SENTENCE IS COMMUTED BY HOCH

Joseph Walker Who Has Served 15 Years For Unintentionally Killing An Infant Goes Free Tomorrow.

Topeka, Kas., Feb. 3.—After fifteen years spent behind prison bars, during which time he has grown from youth to manhood, Joseph Walker will be released from the State penitentiary tomorrow by virtue of the action of Governor Hoch in commuting his life sentence to one of twenty years. The aged father of the prisoner, who was chiefly instrumental in having his sentence reduced, has agreed to look after his son when he is released.

Walker was sent to the penitentiary from Ford county in 1894 for murder in the first degree. He pleaded guilty to that charge and was originally sentenced to death. His crime was that of murdering a little boy. However, the killing of the baby was unintentional. He was attempting to kill an adult. At the time of the crime Walker was 16 years old. Near the Walker home lived William Kimbrel, his family and a young woman named Alice Farris. Walker had paid some attention to Miss Farris and had had words with Kimbrel over it. On the night of the tragedy he took a shotgun, went to the Kimbrel home, and shot through one of the windows. It was supposed that he was attempting to kill either Kimbrel or Miss Farris. But neither of them was injured and the charge from the gun killed the Kimbrel baby.

POWERS WILL END ANY TALK OF WAR IN THE NEAR EAST

English Squadron Sails From Malta for Greece to Prevent Cretans Taking Seats in Assembly.

Malta, Feb. 3.—The British squadron has sailed for Piræna, the port of Athens, Greece, leaving this morning. The recent decision of the king of Greece to convene the national assembly was followed by the reports that Cretans would attempt to send a delegation to that body.

Today then informed the powers protecting the island of Crete that if the Cretans were admitted to the Greek national assembly such action would be regarded by the powers as a casus belli.

The movement of the vessels today makes clear the powers do not propose to permit any action threatening peace in the near east.

Explains Position. London, Feb. 3.—The admiralty states that the sailing of the British squadron from Malta was for a practice cruise, not being on the Cretan situation.

MOMUS IS READY TO BE ENTHRONED

New Orleans Is Donning Gala Array For Famous Annual Festivities Of the Mardi Gras.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 3.—New Orleans is donning gala attire in anticipation of the annual Mardi Gras festivities. The city is rapidly filling with visitors and from all indications the attendance will be as large if not larger than in any previous year.

The program of festivities this year will extend over a period of five days and will be replete with many new and interesting features. All of the time-honored carnival features will be retained, including the arrival and parade of Rex and his gorgeous retinue, the parade and ball of Proteus and the parade and ball of Momus, which will bring the carnival to a close.

The arrival of Rex, the king of the carnival, is always the big event of the week. It is customary to elect some representative citizen of New Orleans to fill this position, usually a prominent business man. For several weeks previous to the day set for the reception of Rex, fictitious wireless messages, supposed to be sent from the royal yacht, at sea, are received in the city and published in the newspapers.

When the king of the carnival arrives in the city the first of the week his reception will be attended with splendid ceremonies. His yacht will be escorted to the landing place by a naval pageant, and a military escort will be furnished to accompany him through the business section to the city hall, where the king of the carnival will formally receive the boys of the city from the mayor.

A LEGAL CLASH IN THE SWOPE CASE

Sensational Kansas City Suit Promises New Developments.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 3.—There was a legal clash in the sensational Swope case today. The circuit court dismissed Dr. Hyde's suit against John Paxton, the executor of the Swope estate, for a hundred thousand dollars for alleged slander.

It is stated the order to dismiss was filed to prevent Paxton's attorneys from securing depositions of Hyde and others.

Both sides then proceeded to take depositions in Hyde's second suit for six hundred thousand dollars against Paxton and others.

FEW OF CHARGES WERE SUSTAINED

In Wind-up by State Board of Control of Investigation of Racine Insane Asylum.

Racine, Wis., Feb. 3.—The state board of control in the investigation of alleged mismanagement of the Racine insane asylum found that some of the charges are sustained while others are not. The charge of mismanagement is not sustained, nor is the charge that Marie Krueger, an assistant, assaulted Mary Monahan. While there have been no very sensational findings on the part of the state board, the general impression is that the investigation will do much good and that steps will be taken by the board of trustees to remedy some conditions which have caused complaint.

INDIANAPOLIS IN A POLITICAL FERMENT

Leaders of Both the Democrats and Republicans of Hoosier State Hic To the Capital.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 3.—This city was today the scene for the political leaders of Indiana, both Democrats and Republicans. The round-up of the politicians was the largest seen here in a long time. The Democrats came to the capital for a meeting of the Indiana Democratic Editorial Association and a banquet with Governor Marshall, Senator Shively and other leading lights among the scheduled speakers. A meeting of the new Republican State Committee was the subject that attracted the Republican politicians to the city in large numbers.

LOCAL SPEAKERS TO MEET BELOIT TEAM IN A LEAGUE DEBATE

High School Debating Team in Discuss Waterways Questions with Beloit School Tomorrow Evening.

Tomorrow evening at Beloit the first of the series of the Janesville high school is to be matched against that of the Lino City institution in a debate on the question as to whether or not the United States government should expend fifty million dollars a year for the period of ten years in building and extending the inland waterways systems of the country. The debate is one of the series in the league formed by Beloit college for the purpose of fostering the development of oratorical talent in the high schools. If the Janesville speakers win this contest of argument and oratory they will meet the winning team of the Illinois schools represented in the league and have a chance for the cup given by the college. This they are very desirous of doing, and, if possible, of capturing the championship of the league.

The Janesville speakers will discuss the negative side of the question tomorrow evening. For some time past the young men, who are to represent the local school, have been studying up on the subject and under the training of Prof. L. E. Hahn have been practicing on the delivery of their speeches. George Yahn is the leader of the team from this city, and Will Hyde and Lewis French the other members.

The welcome given the Janesville visitors at Beloit will undoubtedly be a royal one. An invitation has been extended to the faculty and Senior class of the Janesville high school and they will be the guests of the faculty and Seniors of the Lino City school at a reception to be held after the debate. Many from this city are planning to attend the debate and some of the Evansville school, who are coming down for the basketball game, are planning to accompany the Janesville crowd to the debate.

AMISUNDERSTANDING AS TO WILLE CASE

While in Straitened Circumstances Widow Has Been Aided by County and Associated Charities.

There appears to have been a misunderstanding in the report of the suffering of Mrs. Robert Wille and her little family as published in last evening's paper. The family has, of course, had to undergo hardships owing to the death of the husband and father, but they have been aided by both the county poormaster, Asa Anderson, and also by the Associated Charities. Mrs. Wille herself is much distressed over the report, as she is most grateful for the assistance rendered her in this, her time of need, and in justice to her it should be stated that the information came from an outside source, the motive for which is now being traced.

W. T. Sherer of the Associated Charities stated this morning that at the present time the association is doing much good in the city and despite the cold, hard winter they do not find as much actual suffering as in past years. He notes that all reports of needy cases he sent to himself or Miss Crosby and assures the public they will be investigated and cared for. He also paid a high compliment to Asa P. Anderson, the poor commissioner, for the able way in which he has co-operated with the association in their work.

Mr. Anderson stated today that at present there are about thirty families in the city who are receiving aid. "Some of these," he said, "do not have aid all the time, only when actually needed. Of course the cold winter has caused considerable suffering and I have probably been forced to spend nearly $400 during the past month alone. Half of this went for fuel and the rest for groceries. I find but little actual suffering in the rural districts unless it is a call for medical attendance."

There are no cases in Beloit at present, two or three at Milton Junction I am adding, and the same at Evansville. Sickness seems to be the real cause for application for aid and in all the cases I make a careful inquiry to find if it is deserving. The Associated Charities aid me greatly by taking considerable of the burden off my hands. Shoes and clothing are often asked for and these the Associated Charities care for.

"There are several families to whom I have paid between twenty and twenty-five dollars a month all winter, but they were cases where was needed aid, like the Wille case, where the mother sought to keep her little family together and could not do without assistance. Many have merely wanted fuel, or help once in a while for groceries when unusual expenses have had to be met with. On the whole I think there is little, if any, actual suffering in the city."

RED HOT BASKETBALL CONTEST ON FRIDAY

Two subjects of general discussion at the high school today are the basketball contest with the Evansville high school five tomorrow afternoon and the debate with the Beloit debating team Friday evening. A fast, hot contest is expected, as Wilkinson, guard for the Janesville squad, has won them at play and reports them to be whirlwinds. Janesville has a team that is quite as fast, their team work and passing being features of their style of playing, but they may be slightly handicapped by the loss of their center, Hemming, who is sick today, and it is doubtful if he will be able to go into the match tomorrow evening. The students here, however, feel little doubt but that the Beloit City squad will be able to win by a close score. The Evansville school is to close at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon to allow the students to come to Janesville, and with a large delegation of roots to offset the cheering of the J. H. S. students, the fun promises to be very lively.

ONE HUNDRED MINERS KILLED

EXPLOSION IN MEXICAN SHAFT RESULTS FROM LIGHTED CIGARETTE.

NOT A MAN ESCAPED ALIVE

Seventy-Four Are Dead at Primero, Col.—Thirty-Four Lose Their Lives at Drakesboro, Ky.—Cause of American Disasters Not Known.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 3.—As a result of the carelessness of a Mexican in lighting his cigarette 100 men are dead in the Paula mine in Mexico, across from Eagle Pass, in the state of Coahuila.

Sixty-eight bodies have already been taken from the shaft. The others are buried further in. There is no hope that any will be found alive. Not a single man in the mine escaped alive. One man was brought to the surface in a conscious condition but died shortly thereafter.

Smuggles Matches into Shaft. He told of the circumstances of the explosion. Smoking in the mine is prohibited. It seems as if a minor, not understanding the danger, smuggled tobacco and matches into the shaft when he went to work and the miners had been at work nearly an hour when he struck a match to light a cigarette.

400 Men Entombed. Immediately the explosion followed, burying alive the 100 men in the mine at the time. Frantic efforts were made by the mine superintendent to rescue the men but the shaft was so filled that it took hours of work to reach the chamber where the men were confined. The explosion must have been terrific as the entire interior of the mine was badly wrecked.

Primero Victims Number 74. Primero, Col., Feb. 3.—Only 74 men are dead as the result of the mysterious explosion in the Primero mine. This is the final figure according to a careful check made in a house-to-house canvass finished by officials of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company.

Forty-nine bodies have been recovered from the mine. It is known that more bodies lay in the workings but it was dangerous for the rescue party to work longer. Further work of rescue has been given up until the deadly blackdamp has been dissipated. No one has been able as yet to ascertain the exact cause of the explosion. There is much suffering among the families of the miners who were killed and relief funds have been started in various parts of the state.

34 Killed at Drakesboro. Drakesboro, Ky., Feb. 3.—Thirty-four men lost their lives in a terrible explosion which occurred in an unused section of the Wickliffe mine at Drakesboro.

Thirty-two of the bodies, most of them terribly mangled and blackened, have been brought to the surface and are being buried.

Concussion Was Great. When the explosion occurred, the concussion of which was a warning to those in other sections of the workings, there were nearly 100 men in the mine. The signal to hold the cage was given and the frantic miners began pouring out.

It was some time before the work of rescue began, but when a party went down it was found that the dead and injured could be reached.

Cause Is in Doubt. Doubt is expressed as to the real cause of the explosion. Some believe that a large quantity of blasting powder was set off, while others say it was gas or dust. The bodies brought out, with the exception of Kelly and the negro, are believed to complete the list of dead. Several of those injured are in a serious condition.

PLACES BLACKMAIL AT $100,000.

Warriner Says Chicago Family Got $1,000 Monthly for Years.

Cincinnati, Feb. 3.—At the hearing of the case against Mrs. Jeannette Stewart Ford, charged with blackmailing Charles L. Warriner, Judge Swing overruled the motion of the defense to dismiss the charge against Mrs. Ford. The motion was based on Prosecutor Hunt's refusal to give up transcripts of Warriner's grand jury testimony.

Warriner was the principal witness and, among other things, he testified: "I would estimate that I have given the family of Edgar Street Cooke of Chicago every bit as much, if not more than I gave to Mrs. Ford, that I have kept them in luxury for the past seven years, and that this was done to keep quiet the information they knew about my shortages at the Big Four office. I have certainly given them fully $1,000 each month for the last seven years and sometimes the sum was more than that."

Warriner said that he had not kept tabs on the money paid to any of the people, but that he figured it was between $85,000 and $100,000.

Sell Oleo as Butter, Is Charge. Chicago, Feb. 3.—Two men, who, internal revenue inspectors say, sold weekly more than 1,000 pounds of oleo-margarine as butter, were arrested in Grand Crossing by the federal authorities. The men arrested are John Winslow and Rudolph Barchmann.

Receiver for Packing Company. New York, Feb. 3.—The Mexican National Packing Company, with a capital of $22,000,000 and a bonded debt of $12,500,000, was placed in the hands of Henry de Kay as receiver.

DIAMONDS ARE TO BE HIGHER.

Retail Price Will Be Elevated Because of Wage Advance.

New York, Feb. 3.—The retail price of diamonds is about to be elevated because of an advance of 12½ per cent. in wages that was granted by the New York diamond merchants to the members of the American Diamond Cutters' Protective association.

"It will mean that the cost to each customer will be from five to ten dollars a carat more than at present," said Charles A. Keene, one of the largest diamond merchants in the city.

Miss Drayton Weds in England. London, Feb. 3.—Miss Caroline Astor Drayton of New York and William Phillips, secretary of the American embassy here, were married today in the little church in Rogate, an obscure village 60 miles from London. Only intimate friends were invited, there was no bridesmaid, and everything about the wedding was of the simplest character except the presents. The honeymoon has begun in an old country house in Kent, which has been rented for a month, but it will be interrupted, for the groom, who is chargé d'affaires of the embassy, will attend the opening of parliament on February 15.

Weston Starts on Long Tramp. Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 3.—Edward Payson Weston has started on his walking trip across the continent, and expects to reach New York on or before May 15.

$450,000 GIVEN TO COLLEGES.

Rockefeller Fund Makes Seven Conditional Appropriations.

New York, Feb. 3.—At the seventh annual meeting of the Rockefeller Fund of the General Education board these conditional gifts and appropriations were made to five colleges and two universities: Williams college, Williamstown, Mass., gift of $100,000 on condition that the college raise an endowment of $1,000,000; Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., $100,000 toward $1,000,000; Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ind., $50,000 toward $200,000; St. Lawrence university, Canton, N. Y., $50,000 toward $200,000; Georgetown college, Georgetown, Ky., $25,000 toward $100,000; the Women's college in Brown university, Providence, R. I., $50,000 toward $200,000; Salus college (for women), Winston-Salem, N. C., $75,000 toward $300,000.

SENATE TO PROBE HIGH PRICES.

Senator Lodge Introduces Resolution Similar to House Measure.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Senator Lodge introduced a resolution in the senate for the appointment of a select committee of five members to investigate the question of high prices.

In its scope the resolution is similar to the Payne resolution presented to the house. It provides for a general investigation of the price of the necessities of life, to find out how much and why the prices of such necessities have advanced in the past ten years. Also the committee is to report how much wages have advanced and such remedial legislation as the committee thinks necessary.

The resolution was referred to the finance committee.

36,000,000 EGGS IN STORAGE.

Have Been in Warehouse Since Last March.

New York, Feb. 3.—There are 36,000,000 eggs in one cold storage warehouse in Jersey City, according to the information placed before the Hudson county (N. J.) grand jury in its investigation of the big packing and other concerns which maintain extensive warehouses on the other side of the Hudson river. The eggs have been there since last March. It was learned, together with 100,000 pounds of poultry stored since April last.

DECLARES PANIC IS COMING.

Yale Professor Sees Hard Times Ahead Unless Conditions Change.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 3.—In the course of a lecture here Prof. William L. Phelps of Yale university said that a business panic, possibly more serious than the one of 1907, will soon come if there is not an immediate change in the present situation. He said the rising prices to the influx of gold and declared that an increase in interest rates alone would check speculation and its inevitable results.

Many Fishermen Are Drowned.

Early Mail Service in Maine.

In 1793 individuals hired a man to go from Castine to Wiscasset and carry letters and papers once a fortnight. He walked the whole distance over the route. The next year postmasters were appointed and mail sent once a week by carriers on horseback. Rufus Crane, the first postmaster, in Warren, collected 20 cents as his pay for his first three months of work.—Lewiston Journal.

Blessing Should Have Counted.

There is a French story of an old woman who, on seeing the carriage of the young King Louis XIII, passing on his way from church, where the marriage had just taken place, took off her shoe, and throwing it at his coach, cried out: "Tis all I have, your majesty, but may the blessing of God go with it."

CLINTON.

Clinton, Feb. 3.—Mr. Fred Finch of Whitewater visited her father and sister here Monday and Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Solon Cooper entertained the school teachers and Mrs. Reeco at ten Thursday evening. This is an annual event with Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and one looked forward to every year by those fortunate enough to be included, for it is one of the most enjoyable events of the winter season here.

The lecture by Col. Geo. W. Bain at the Baptist church Tuesday evening was very fine and greatly enjoyed by the large audience present. The subject, "A Flashlight of the 20th Century," proved very instructive, entertaining and profitable and all hope to have the pleasure of hearing the gifted colonel again.

A mad dog scare was rife in Clinton Tuesday. A strange cur was around the streets snapping and biting at other dogs and running upon people's porches. Dr. L. B. Rader, V. R., killed the animal and sent the head to Madison to ascertain positively whether the dog had rabies. If report sustains the suspicion all the dogs known to have been bitten will be killed.

Charles Larson has moved from the house he has occupied so long on School street to East Milwaukee street.

If F. Dallman, F. B. Reeder and Samuel Polz went to Milwaukee Tuesday to attend the hardware dealers' convention.

George Roberts, the thiner in H. F. Dallman's hardware store, goes to his home in Iowa Monday next to spend his vacation of four weeks before the spring rush begins.

Henry Cleland of Beloit was in town Wednesday calling on old friends.

Oscar Whitgate spent Tuesday in Chicago investigating the packing trust.

Mrs. H. P. Dallman's father arrived Monday to spend several days.

Misses Jennie and Lenora Northrup and Mrs. W. H. Northrup entertained a large company of ladies to a luncheon Friday at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. H. Northrup on Milwaukee avenue.

O. L. Woodward is installing a private lighting system in place of the city service.

J. A. Hamilton today received a letter announcing the arrival of an addition to the family of his sister, Mrs. E. W. Warner, who with her husband and son, Charles, are spending the winter in Florida.

The 500 party and 6 o'clock tea given by the Misses Northrup and Mrs. W. H. Northrup at the home of the former was one of the most delightful events of the season. Mrs. A. S. Woolston won first prize and Mrs. E. H. Kizer the consolation prize.

Dr. J. W. Jones is reported as better today, which is glad news to the doctor's host of friends.

His condition continues to improve and hopes are entertained for his speedy convalescence.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Cooper entertained a few friends at an elaborate dinner tomorrow (Thursday) noon. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper's hospitality is proverbial in this section.

JOHN BERRY IN HIS BALLOON BASKET.

TO SCALE MT. MCKINLEY IN SEARCH OF COOK'S RECORDS BY BALLOON.

St. Louis, Mo.—Captain John Berry, aeronaut of many flights, is ready to balloon his way to the crest of Mount McKinley in Alaska in search of the records Doctor Frederick A. Cook states he placed there. Berry hopes to settle once and for all the question of whether Cook over scaled the highest mountain on the continent, or "bust" in the attempt. Berry's slogan is, "To the top of Mount McKinley or bust," and he says it will take a great many "busts" in the big gas bag in which he is going to make the trip to discourage him. Joseph W. Plein, a gold mine owner of Nome, Alaska, applied in St. Louis this morning for a trip for the special purpose of conferring with Berry and advising him as to methods and accommodations. Captain Berry says that the venture will cost him $50,000. A St. Louisan will accompany him. Pictures will be taken as primary evidence of the trip. An 80,000-cubic-foot balloon, inflated with hydrogen gas, which will be used. A circular basket, containing the peculiar steering and propelling apparatus, which Captain Berry has just perfected, and patented, after two years' labor, will carry the aeronauts. This propelling machine is built on an upright shaft of iron, 10 feet high, which stands from the center of the basket. On this shaft are two sets of propellers, two of which are parallel and two horizontal with the shaft.

Each set of propellers is capable of pulling an 80-pound weight. One set will lift the balloon, the other propel it. Lovers make it possible to shift these propellers to any position. A small four-horse power gasoline engine will supply the power. Captain Berry will leave St. Louis this spring with his balloon, basket and shaft, which itself weighs 150 pounds. At Seattle the rest of his outfit will be purchased. The first 10,000 feet up the mountain will be made on horse back. There final preparations will be made for the ascent, depending, of course, on extend over weeks. This will may extend over weeks. When it comes the aeronauts will sail the crest of the mountain. They will endeavor to just skin the crest. A trail rope 200 feet long is expected to catch on the peak. When they land they will search for Cook's record, which Captain Berry says he does not expect to find. The captain will unfurl the Stars and Stripes, bury his own records, take some pictures, and sail away. The "get away" may be very difficult. Captain Berry says. Though the trip to the crest will take no longer than 15 minutes; a lot of gas will be used in landing. He will probably have to unharness his shaft and leave it there. Kid of this weight he figures on being able to escape and land somewhere nearer the center of the earth. Mr. Plein says it is impossible for him to land farther than 20 miles away from a mining camp.

BRODHEAD.

Brodhead, Feb. 3.—Washington Mitchell is reported as very sick again. Mrs. J. W. Trossell is seriously ill. Mrs. Frank Ross is home from a stay of some weeks with friends in Chicago.

Scratch this on the Slate With a Nail.

Some paid managers of the great Labor Trust do not seem satisfied to rest on their past record of tyrannies to their own members, to other working men, and to the public at large, but they seek to add to their long list of villainous acts.

On Sunday, January 2nd, 1910, The Chicago Federation of Labor allowed to pass to the press a statement that three carloads of empty peanut shells were found in a railroad wreck and were consigned to our Company.

That statement was a wilful, malicious lie made from whole cloth.

It was inspired by the usual hate for everyone not under the yoke of the Labor Trust.

It is a favorite method of the average "Jawsmith"—the noisy ones in the unions—when confronted with facts regarding the assaults, destruction of property, and other crimes, (too often including murder) to concoct and put out deliberate falsehoods.

This attack on the business of the Postum Cereal Co. is a good illustration.

They have tried for years to boycott the products, ruin the business, and take away the living of our faithful employees, (about 1000 persons).

What for?

We have for years past paid the highest wages in the State for like service. Have built and sold hundreds of homes to them at a total cost of from $11.00 to $18.00 a month. About 80% now own these homes and they are good ones.

These people are faithful, prosperous, loyal and high-grade, yet they have been hounded and vilified because they now and always have refused to bend the knee to these tyrannical labor bosses who could collect monthly fees and order them to quit work in order to punish the Company for being independent of "unionism."

The Labor Trust has sent committees and money time and again, given smokers (and drinkers) to try and lure our people into the meshes of slavery, but Postum workmen steadfastly prefer their independence and liberty. Therefore, the labor leaders have threatened to punish them and this lying "peanut shell tale" is one of the methods.

There is a time coming when the workingmen, even outside of Battle Creek, will secure his rightful position and fair treatment with suitable wages without being compelled to be under the iron heel of a few labor chiefs who have obtained control in some localities over the workingmen, and can tell them when to quit work, or be subjected to the slugging of their infamous "en-

tainment committees."

Labor is too sacred a part of the great world's work to be dominated by the vicious, hate-producing, impudent, and criminal men too often found in the ranks of these so-called officers and managers.

The works of the great food factories in this country are open to visitors at all hours of the working day, and are visited by hundreds of thousands of people who inspect every kind of material used and all of the processes. The cleanliness of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., plant is proverbial the world over.

We have deposited in the Commercial National Bank of Chicago, $5,000.00 to be covered by a like amount by the Chicago Federation of Labor. If the Federation of Labor can show that there were ever any peanut shells or trash of any kind shipped to and used by the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., in their foods at any time in the history of the business, the Chicago Federation of Labor will take the $10,000.00, otherwise it will come to us. The Chicago Federation of Labor will not cover this amount. They know, and their president knows, that when he made the statement, he constructed it out of whole cloth and voiced a wilful falsehood.

ENGLAND'S TROUBLES

Every two years the United States goes through the throes of a congressional election and every four years the country is rent by a national election and matters of national importance are fought out through the medium of the popular vote of the citizens of this republic. England, on the contrary, has its elections at no stated periods. When Parliament does not think it can agree upon matters of national importance a special election is held and for two weeks the electors of the different counties vote. Such an election has just been completed and from now on we will hear many speculations as to what the real outcome was.

Until the meeting of Parliament on February 15 reports from London are likely to contain little authoritative news on the political outlook in Great Britain. Rumors will doubtless be plentiful enough, but until the intentions of the re-elected Liberal ministry are made known in the King's speech a healthy scepticism about news will probably be found as safe an attitude as could be chosen.

Unquestionably the ministerial majority is narrow, and very much at the mercy of the Irish Nationalists, to say nothing of the possibilities of revolt among the reduced Independent Labor party and the radical wing of the Liberals. This is a situation which would, to some extent, point to conservatism in order to secure the co-operation of the Unionists in reasonable and necessary legislation. The budget must be passed immediately in order to complete the collection of taxes before the end of the fiscal year on March 31. Whatever view may be taken of the election figures it is plain, at least, that the House of Lords has earned no title to reject the budget a second time. It may be taken, therefore, that it will go through substantially unchanged. There will be little time to undertake any other legislation in the six weeks available.

In any case the time of the Lower House will be fully occupied in the prolonged debate which always takes place on the Address in reply to the King's speech. It is in order then to introduce almost any amendment, and, although most practical statesmen grumble at the waste of time, some important matters are ventilated, and a good many air balloons are punctured before the real legislative work of the session begins.

In April the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who will probably be Mr. Lloyd-George reappointed, introduces the budget for 1910, and it is probable that in the interval between the debate on the Address and the appearance of the new finance bill the question of the reform of the House of Lords will come to the front. Doubtless the ministry would like to have the matter arranged in that way, but the Irish members may insist that the matter of home rule be given precedence. If this is refused to them they can render any motion to reform the House of Lords abortive, with the result that the budget for 1910 would be passed upon by an unreformed House of Peers.

In British politics it has been the lesson of history that conditions do not conduce to any useful purpose. The Tories have always been bad losers, and the talk of coalition means that they do not like to give up hope altogether. It would be seen from the forecast of the legislative program that they have it in their power to force another general election by a temporary alliance with the home rulers, or even the Labor party. This is the limit of their power, and if there is to be another general election in the autumn, as seems probable, the Liberal party might be in a better position if it made as few concessions as possible.

ADMINISTRATION POLICIES

There are always cronies down at Washington who can predict any sort of dire disasters for the American people and this great republic, particularly the republican party. For months the yellow periodicals have made a hue and cry that Cannon was the disrupting element of the republican party, the one element that would bring about its defeat at the next general election, and they have pointed with pride to the congressmen who oppose him as martyrs for the cause of freedom.

It is easy enough for cronies to predict ruin and desolation and their cronies often help bring such dire results. The insurgent congressmen are not martyrs by any means but republicans elected by republican voters who have seen fit to revolt against the republican party doctrines in the hope of a gain of a little cheap notoriety. Their revolt will only embarrass the administration and will not hinder the reforms that were promulgated at the election last year.

President Taft has decided upon four important changes in the national doctrines—the passage of a Postal Savings bank bill, conservation legislation, amendments to the present interstate commerce laws and the admission of Arizona and New Mexico as separate states. It is a big program and one which will require much diplomacy and engineering to accomplish. However, the republican majority, exclusive of the insurgents in congress, is sufficient for this purpose and they will doubtless see that President Taft finds ready support. It is the program of the republican party, the party of progress, and as such it should receive the support of the republicans in congress regardless of their own personal differences with Speaker Cannon or with the Senators who oppose other wild measures they seek to make into laws.

So the dear, kind insurgents, several of them being from Wisconsin, are going to help Taft live up to his party pledges. Kind of them, is it not?

If Bryan down in Brazil is planning the "Buck from Brazil" act the old guard do not relish their part of the program which will proceed a Waterloo.

THE POET PHILOSOPHERBy WALT MASON
(Copyright, 1909, by George M. Shaw Adams.)

The other day, or the day before, a cop was shown to the station door. "You're fired, my friend," said the annoyed chief, and his voice was grim with a strong undertone of scorn. "In record time in this town you've made a name for yourself. You're a peeler who was afraid!" And the news was flashed over the country wide; there lived a cop with so little pride, so little courage and manly vim, that he side-stepped death when it made for him! And all of the country marveled then; and say, did ever a race of men receive a tribute of higher worth than men infested this one-horse earth? One cop dodged death in a city's streets—one man of legions who walk their beats, and gaze at danger with fearless eyes, and forward march where their duty lies. Their duty—that is the sacred cause! They die, and the world has no applause; they dare not think of their waiting wives, when duty asks them to risk their lives; they dare not think of the kids at home when down in the haunts of the wolves they roam; they dare but think of the town they guard, of the town that gives them a cheap reward. They do their duty so bravely, well the world has jarred when a peeler fell!

HIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

Rev. George Houghton, an eastern sociologist, says:
"American men and women today hire their wives and husbands as they hire their carriages and horses."

"Therefore," he says, "when they are not suited they proceed to hire different ones." It is very simple. The motto of the modern lassie is:
Hire! Hire! Hire!

The lassie first hire their mates, according to Mr. Houghton, and when they tire of them they "fire" them. It all depends.

In certain circles of American life the statement may be true. In those circles an heiress is often put on the auction block and sold to the highest bidder. Some are bartered outright for a foreign title.

There being no ethics in such a bill of sale, the buyer should be privileged to sell his property again when he tires of it. There is no moral obligation in the transfer.

But—
If this sociologist pretends to say that outside a small set, in high life and in low life these things are so he does not know what he is talking about.

Millions of happy homes disprove it. The fact of the matter is this: A divorce is "news." The fact that tens of thousands are living happily together is not news.

We read of the divorces. We do not read of the contented homes. Marriage in America is held as a sacred obligation. Millions regard it as a holy sacrament. The home is the place of mutual sacrifice and affection. That is the rule. The hire-fire-fire sort are the exceptions.

There is too much of this talk about the failure of marriage. It is untrue to begin with. It creates a false impression and misleads many people.

Young man—
Young woman—
Give scant attention to those pessimists who are forever decrying modern marriage, the sort that go about saying: "Oh, I know! I have seen. You don't catch me on the hook of matrimony."

They do not know. They have not seen. They know only a few isolated cases. They have not seen the real thing. And they are probably of the sort whom no one would want to catch on the hook of matrimony.

Americans do not hire their wives and husbands. They do not tire of them nor fire them.

SCIENCE NOTES

The latest development of the moving picture and its employment as a means of cultivating marksmanship. The system is quite an elaborate one, and has been tried with more or less success in the British army and those of other nations of Europe. In this, men are enabled to engage in practice under conditions which nearly duplicate those of real warfare. For instance, scouts in the picture are seen to come from cover and advance, fire at intervals and return to cover just as flesh and blood scouts would do. The screen which is nothing but the target is quite near the real marksmen, but the effect is the same as practiced at the range. The hits are registered automatically and at the end of his practice he is shown at a glance the result made.

With special alcohol engines, entirely suited to the use of alcohol, the latter fuel has been made to do as much work, fuel for getting on the gasoline. The price of denatured alcohol is greater than the price of gasoline, and the quantity of denatured alcohol consumed by an alcohol engine as ordinarily constructed and operated is in general relatively greater than the quantity of gasoline consumed by a gasoline engine of the same type. Considerable attention is being given to the development of processes for the manufacture of alcohol from cheap raw materials which are generally available, and it seems reasonable to expect that the price of denatured alcohol will eventually become as low or lower than the price of gasoline, especially if the price of gasoline advances. It also seems reasonable to expect a greater general improvement in alcohol engines than in gasoline engines.

A system of forced ventilation is to be tried on the street cars of Chicago. Several fresh air intakes are to be placed in the floor under the seats and at other convenient points, and before entering the car it passes over electric heaters so that it is tempered or heated as desired. The vehicle is fitted with a double ceiling and the lower one has a number of outlets for the filtered air, but all openings are arranged so that there is no possibility of experiencing a draft in any part of the cars.

Moving pictures of the flight of insects have been taken with the remarkably short exposure of 1/42,000 part of a second. In the same line of work, two successive pictures of the operation of a scissor and the flight of a projection which made showing a complete operation which took place in the space of 1/10,000 of a second. Instantaneous pictures by the Houghton ray process is another important step of recent progress in photography.

The megaphone has been used at some western army posts for the purpose of amplifying the volume of the bugle, where it is desired that the call shall be heard at a distance greater than the sound will carry under ordinary circumstances. The notes of the horn may be distinguished easily at almost incredible reaches in this manner.

The world's product of silver in 1907 was 185 million ounces against 160 million in 1906, and the selling value in 1907 being 225 million dollars against 207 millions in 1906. Started in comparison with 1906, however, the figures are not too far off, the commercial value of the silver produced in 1907 being 122 million dollars, and that in 1906, 90 millions.

A Sale Of Towels and Toweling IN REACH OF EVERYBODY

The tendency of all invention and progress is toward giving the people all the comforts and many of the luxuries of life. The cottage of today is better furnished than the castle of a few hundred years ago. How Mary Queen of Scots, or good Queen Bess, would have stared had such goods and prices been shown them in those good old days

AS THESE

We have a Union Huck Towel, color white, 18 in. wide with self border. In pulling out a single wolf thread and breaking it, basing our judgment on the strength of that one thread, we think it would take about ten threads twisted together to hold an elephant. This toweling was bought on the old basis and if bought today should sell for 18c per yard. We have a limited quantity of this, possibly 200 yards. Saturday will sell it for 13c a yd.

Also 250 yards of Union Huck Crash Toweling, self border, 18 in. wide, excellent for kitchen roll towels and will stand very hard wear. This contains a very large percentage of linen. At today's prices it is worth very nearly at wholesale what we are going to sell it for. Buy all you want Saturday for 12 1/2c a yard.

200 yards of Cotton Huck Toweling, 19 in. wide. It is hard to buy this grade of toweling today at any such figure as we own it. This is worth every cent of 10c of your good money. Buy it Saturday at 8c a yard.

350 yds., cotton colored border, honeycombed Toweling, 19x36 in. They are good, fine towels, borders blue and red. Will stand hard wear. Buy them Saturday, 7c each.

20 dozen bleached fine Cotton Huck Towels, pretty red borders, size 16x33 in. and a good value at 10c each. Buy them Saturday at 8c.

100 dozen unbleached Turkish Towels, size 13x25 in. In order to get them to retail for the price, we have to buy large cases—too much for the average merchant. Many buy them for wash cloths as they get two cloths from one towel. We offer these at 55c a dozen or 5c each.

250 Guest Towels with white and colored borders, size 13x10 in. They are Union Towels. Have hemmed ends. Just the thing for hotels, guest rooms and any rooms. We are not particular about that. They are easily worth 10c. Buy them Saturday at 8c.

10 dozen fancy Linen Towels with open work border, with hemmed ends, 20 1/2x36 in. These are firm, fine and excellent values at 17c. Buy them Saturday for 14c.

10 dozen extra fine Huck Towels with dainty colored borders, hemstitched ends, made by a patent process that closely imitates linen and will retain their excellent finish. A person using one thinks they are using an all linen towel. Buy them Saturday at 22c.

Improvements For Artificial Teeth

I am making beautiful and practical sets of teeth these days. If your old plate is loose and ill-fitting it probably is because your gums have shrunk away. A new impression will give your teeth a nice tight fit. Don't put up any longer with the continual annoyance of your ill-fitting teeth.

How would you like the appearance of a perfect gold filling in one of the front teeth of your artificial set?

It makes them look natural and adds to the beauty and attractiveness of your personal appearance. I can do this work skillfully. The cost is not much and the improvement is wonderful.

I extract teeth painlessly.

THE SEWER TEST WAS HELD TODAY

WATER TURNED INTO THE BIG OUTLET THIS MORNING.

FLUSHES ENTIRE SYSTEM

Can Be Checked to Meet Any Demand That is Made Upon It.

A Complete Success.

Fulfilling the most ardent expectations, Janesville's new main outlet sewer and siphon proved a complete success when tested for the first time this morning by City Engineer C. V. Korch.

At ten o'clock, both intake valves, one located just south of the Fourth avenue bridge and emptying into the west side main, while the other, located under the Janesville launch club-handling, is connected with the east side main, were opened by the inspector George Croft and the water of the river poured into the mains.

At the eastern extremity of the siphon, located on the river bank at the foot of Indiana street, the city engineer had made arrangements to measure the flow of water and so regulate the valves at the intake that just sufficient water to keep the siphon full in diameter, full at all times.

The arrangement of valves and outlets at this station eliminates any possibility of an accident to the siphon, blocking the flow of sewage from the east side main. While the flow of water from the intake rushes all the waste through the pipe and makes clogging almost impossible, another outlet, which empties directly into the river at that point has been constructed, so if repairs to the siphon become necessary, this gate can be opened and the siphon emptied.

Another arrangement, an automatic gate, prevents the station from flooding by diverting the overflow beyond a certain point directly into the river. This also prevents the water in the river from backing into the sewer should the sewer rise above the level of the gate.

Although the city engineer has not yet prepared his figures, it is estimated that the water from the intake on the east side, rushes the sewage through the smaller siphon at the rate of five feet a second. It is impossible to calculate just what both pipes can handle as sufficient water is not obtainable to test their full capacity.

Sever before have the two main sewers been flushed so completely as they were this morning. Every particle of waste that had lodged in the pipes was whirled through the siphon and into the main outlet. From present indications, the siphon and outlet is capable of disposing of the city's waste should the population increase in number to 80,000.

It is believed that the tests will be completed today and the flow regulated so that when a meeting of the street assessment committee is called to inspect the report on the work, they will have an opportunity to see the system working at a normal rate.

The People's Construction company have completed their work and at present are gathering up their materials and tools and packing them ready for shipment. Three of the five cars necessary to move their materials and equipment have already been loaded and the entire outfit will be shipped before Saturday. Part of the equipment goes to Rock Island, Ill., while the remainder will be sent to a suburb of Davenport, Iowa, where the firm has a contract.

STEREOPTICAN LECTURE.

The stereopticon lecture by Dr. Bouton at the Congregational church Friday evening, Feb. 4, on the "Land of a Thousand Wonders" will be of great interest to all. We may well be proud of this country which can show so many natural resources as come within the compass of this single lecture. The colored slides which will be used are especially striking. Doors open at 7:30. Lecture commences at 8:00 P. M.

RACING ON ICE AT THE GAS POND TODAY

Speedy Horses Owned by Janesville Men Competing for Prize Whips This Afternoon.

The race for the two whips offered by George Charlton and John Sheridan for the speediest horses on the ice are being run off at the gas pond this afternoon. The speediest horses in the city are taking part in the meet and there was promise of fun, fast and furious. The competition is quite keen, as the owners all seek the title and the last race resulted in a tie for three of them. The following horse owners had their animals out: E. Ray Lloyd, E. J. Schindler, N. Jones, D. B. Griffin, and Harry Perry. Casey driving the horse for the latter, Charlton and Sheridan will act as the judges.

ENJOYED BOB RIDES THE FINE EVENING

Church Societies Have Pleasant Times—Two Held Parties Recently.

Bob-rides by church societies were a popular diversion for many young people of this city last evening. About forty members of the Young People's society of the Congregational church journeyed to the home of Miss Edna Showmaker, about four miles north of the city, and spent four evening very merrily there. Music and games were indulged in and ghost stories were told. A delicious supper was served and the party returned to the city.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church, three bob-rides in all, drove to the home of Mrs. Clark, three miles out of the city on the Milton road, and were here guests for the evening. The time was delightfully passed with games and light refreshments were served.

The Sunday School class of the Baptist church, taught by Mrs. Roy D. Carler, enjoyed a bob-ride about the city last evening.

BRIEF LOCAL NOTES.

IS HE DOWN AND OUT?
Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, the Duke of Pugilism.

"He's all in; he's through." That's what one now hears of Jack O'Brien since Al Kaufman beat him in a six-round bout at Philadelphia. But is he? Jack has been whipped before and always came back for more. But he did not get it, because he always turned the tables on his man and came back a winner. In a six-round affair Jack's opponent would make a good showing and NEARLY win. Then there would be a rematch and Mr. Opponent would get an awful beating, while Jack would smile and go to the bank the next morning and deposit a roll of bills. He's the same old Jack, just as foxy as ever and the best business man in the world of pugilism; also Jack is the best dressed pugilist to be found. When he fought Tommy Burns in Milwaukee a few years ago he visited a newspaper office in the morning attired in a business suit. At noon he returned with a neat black suit of clothes and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon he wore still another suit. And in his trunk he had an evening full dress suit for "special occasions." He's the same Jack O'Brien, and will be for a long time before he gets through collecting the money.

Money Merely a Pedestal.

Money may be a pedestal to stand on, as we look up, but not a god for us to worship. Sad indeed is the lot of him who, making the world his chief good, gains the world and loses himself, his true spiritual self, in which life attains a divine fulfillment.

Soap in History.

It is noteworthy that the Latin word for soap, sapo, is derived from the low German word sape. The ancient Belgians had a sort of caustic soap or rouge that was probably the origin of the well-known old Dutch soap.

Requisite for Happiness.

The best conditions for future happiness lie in the largest possible appreciation of the present.—C. B. Newcomb.

Baby's Health.

If the mother who can possibly afford it will have her baby observed during its first few months by a good nurse or physician, the mother will be saved much anxiety and the baby stands a better chance of health. This does not mean to be a crank on health. It does mean advise your doctor of every appearance of pain or distress; then heed his advice.

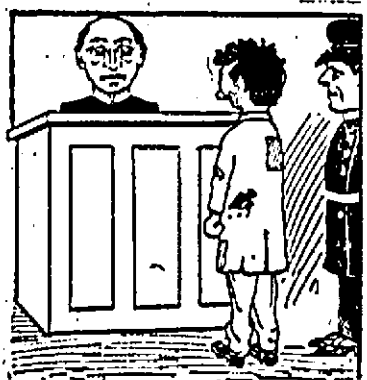

Curiosity on the Farm.

A little girl of the electric lighted piazza went to her grandfather's farm to spend the summer. She saw an unfamiliar animal on one of her strolls and ran to the house very much frightened. "I don't know if it was a snake or an owl," she said, "but it looked crooked and spit fire, and I guess it was a griffin."

Singer and Orator.

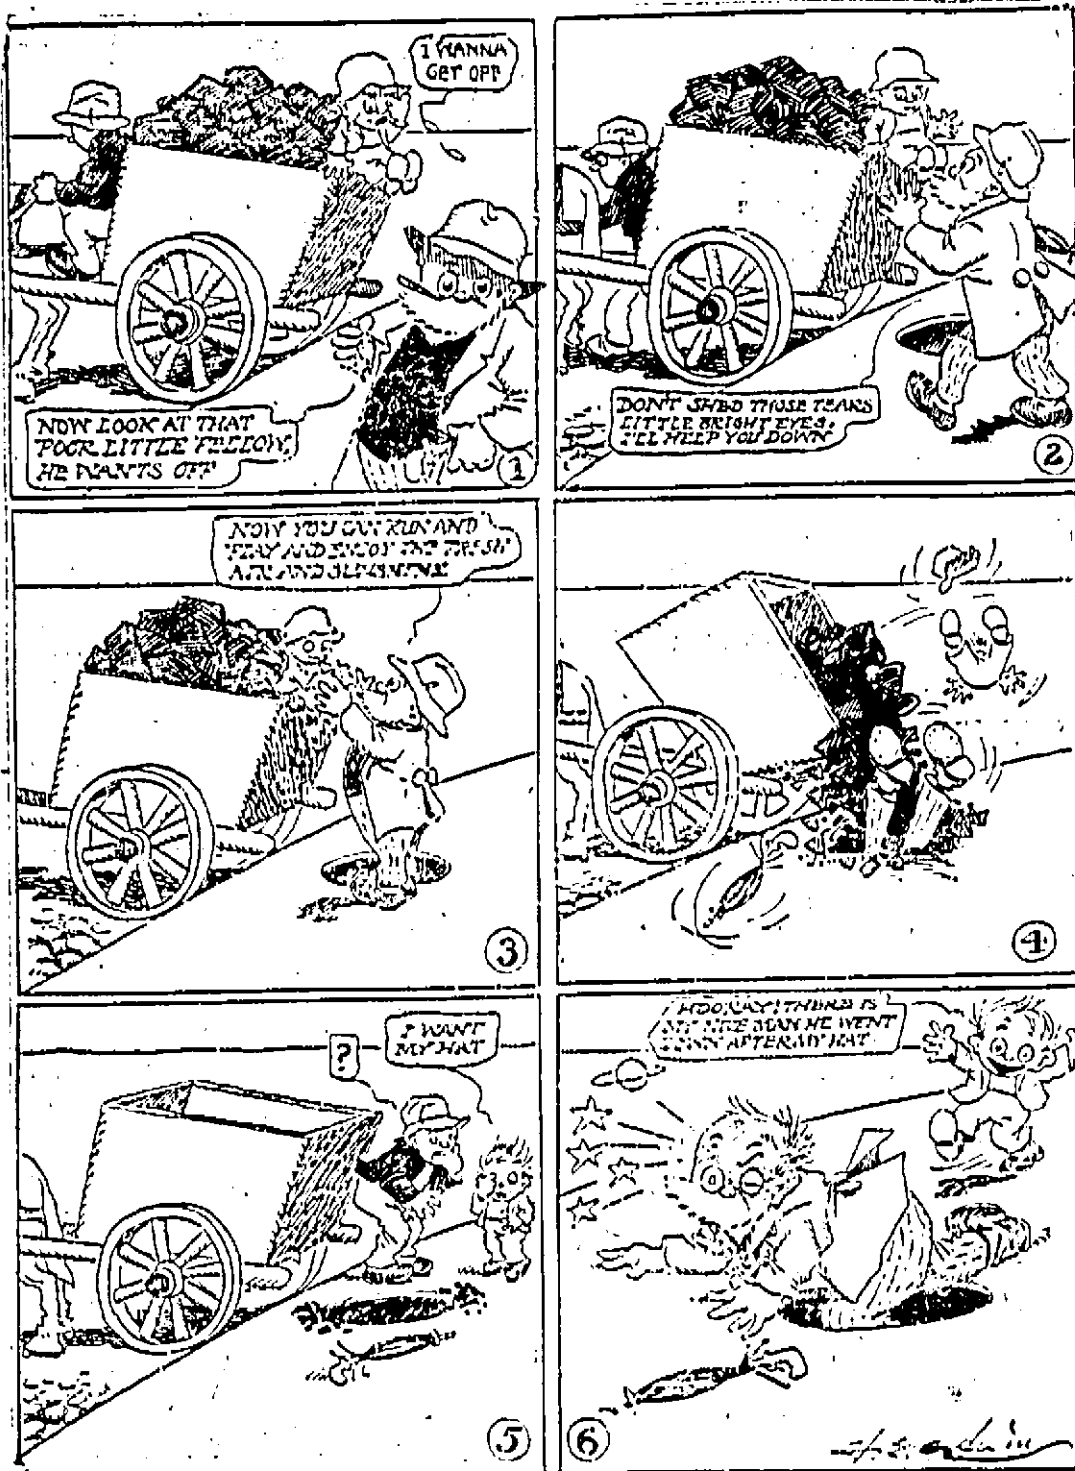

"If I had my way," Dr. Macnamara once confessed to an interviewer, "I should be singing in 'Carmen' instead of making speeches from the treasury bench. But, unfortunately, the British public thinks a great deal more of a man who can make a bad speech than a man who can sing a good song."—Westminster Gazette.

THE RACKET STORE

313 West Milwaukee Street

WANNAMAKER, one of the largest retail merchants in the world, recently spent $1500 to make the following statement, using one-half pages in the Philadelphia papers:

"A few days ago we advertised for sale, pure linen collars at 17c. They were not all pure linen; bring them back and we will return your money"

JOHN WANNAMAKER is a great advertiser. We believe the $1500 he spent in a single day formed such a good impression of his store and his methods that it was money well spent. Certainly he must have thought so.

THE best advertisers of the country make their advertised word as good as their bond, and always understate rather than overstate. Many advertisers think that every ad. must bring in a sufficient number of sales to pay directly for the ad. in order to be profitable. This is not the case, however. Each store should have an advertising plan to secure the confidence of the people. It matters not what is advertised, the constant aim should be to make new friends, to reach new people, to tell the absolute truth, and when people do come and buy and find the goods, rather better than represented in the advertisement, they will say to themselves, "Here is a good place to trade always."

The Optimist's Corner

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A.M., M.D.

Eat less, play more. Indulge in less fret and fume and more fruit and fun. Get out of doors. There is something restful and recuperative in the virgin dirt. Live simpler lives; only simple and natural living can keep a body full of vigor. All a man needs to live under the best conditions are a healthful, simple diet, simple clothing, a sanitary dwelling place, fresh air, sunlight and exercise. What perhaps is most demanded is that our table shall be removed from the domain of mere animal gratification into that of reason; that the table shall be no longer an end, but a means; that it shall be made a place of true refreshment on the high road to a grand and noble future! What we want is a Christian table, and a public sentiment which shall instinctively apply the words "Christian" and "un-Christian" to our food, as well as to our morals.

You will enjoy frugal meals better, after getting accustomed to simple diet. After all, there is nothing so relative as our gustatory zeal. In fact, all our appetites are conditional. A man enjoys a meal very much as he enjoys the society of women; it depends on the scarcity.

AVOID HARSH DRUGS

Many Catholics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels.

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They give only temporary relief and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.

We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. This preparation is called ROXALL'S. These are prompt, soothing and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless, tasteless and colorless. Combined with other well known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation, it forms a tablet which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing any inconvenience whatever. They do not grip, purge nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons and aged people as well as for the most hearty men. They come in two sizes, packages, 12 tablets 10 cents, 36 tablets 25 cents. Remember you can obtain them only at our store, The Roxall Store, Smith Drug Co.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

SOME rules whereby to bulk admittance which have recently been set forth by a Chicago woman who had a cove of "admittance" in her own family, seem to me distinctly worth attention.

Here they are:—

"Get acquainted with your husband's habits."

"Find out where he is during the 'absent spells.'"

"Treat him nicely, but demand that he be a true husband."

"Find out the affinity and talk to her."

Now, I know some women will promptly answer to these rules that if they knew their husbands cared for other women they would not want to have anything more to do with them.

Neither would I, if—and this is a very big if—I was sure my husband really cared for the other woman.

Both for his sake and mine I wouldn't.

But if I thought that maybe through carelessness of mine—indifference to appearance, addiction to curl papers and collarless undershirts, querulous tones in the voice or lack of forbearance—and there are plenty of wives who have these things to blame themselves with—my husband just by the chance of proximity, or maybe even through his own weakness he had become interested in and fascinated by some other woman, I think I should make up my mind to put up a pretty good fight to get him back.

Again, both for his sake and mine, for I believe that nine times out of ten the cause of "admittance" is very short-lived, and if the wife allows it to break up the family her husband is going to suffer some day quite as bitterly as she.

So, on the whole, I think I'd put up a pretty good fight, and in doing it I'd follow the Chicago woman's rules, except in one particular, and that is—"demand that he be a true husband."

Don't demand anything at all.

Of course you have a right to, but the way to win in this fight is to waive your rights as your husband's wife and get them back as the woman he loves the best in the world.

"Find out the affinity and talk to her" seems to me about the best idea of all—for a last resort of course.

Two to one she is just a thoughtless young girl who is carrying the thing through merely for the excitement, the stimulus to her vanity or at the most because of a passing infatuation.

Two to one she simply "doesn't think."

Go to her—lay the case before her—make her think.

Tell her what it means to you and your children, if you have any.

Make her see what an infinitesimally small chance for happiness there is in it for either him or her if she persists in taking him from you through the unhappy medium of a scandal.

Flatter her by admitting that she has the power to do what she wants.

Plead with her humbly and even throw yourself on her mercy if necessary.

You can't do that? You call that foolish advice? You have more pride than that?

Then it isn't advice for you.

For this is advice for the woman who cares more for restoring her husband to his senses and winning back his and her children's and perhaps even her own ultimate happiness than for pride or anything else on earth.

Fads and Fashions

New York, Feb. 3.—Economical women may find great bargains at the shops at this time of the year. The big houses as well as the smaller establishments which cater to the fashionable dressers, are disposing of their left-over winter stock to make room for the spring and early summer models and goods. They are willing to sell these left-overs at a great reduction in price not only because space is valuable to them at this time, but also for the simple reason that owing to the advanced season there is not much hope of disposing of the old stock and the women's winter models would be hopelessly out of style and therefore worthless as a bargain.

As usual, the best bargains are to be found in the exclusive shops and among the high-priced models. In picking up such bargains the purchaser must use good judgment, for not every model lends itself to alterations which would make it available for another season's wear. The bargain hunter must exercise considerable discretion in selecting models and it will be well for her to take an experienced seamstress with her on her shopping trip.

There is considerable risk in buying left-over coat costumes, as radical changes in style may take place before next winter season. A much safer thing to buy are frocks of some light weight silk or wool suitable for house or afternoon wear under a long coat. The safest investment may be made, however, in evening frocks, since more latitude is allowed in the style of evening frocks than in any other. Particularly attractive bargains are offered in blouses of chiffon, crepe, satin and other handsome materials and there is but little risk in purchasing them.

Many of the best looking children blouses shown in the exclusive shops are not plated or tucked in the body, loosely over a lining softened by muslin, gored and with plating introduced in some way toward the hem, a group of plits of ten being set below a fluted bodice box plait.

Smart little linen frocks on the order of the one-piece linen frocks so well liked last summer, are numerous among southern models, but most of them have little to recommend them. When the overalls are not cut in one with shoulder or bodice, show a little more fullness, and the makers say that a majority of the French models are short-sleeved, though many American women ask for the long sleeves. Real Irish lace in the narrow insertions and narrowest edges still remains a favorite in the realm of lingerie neckwear, but it is often noticed by combining it with Valenciennes, and the latter and Chantilly are also much used without the Irish. Handmade Venise is also used for some of the expensive neckwear, but it is satisfactory only when of a quality so good as to be exceedingly expensive. And even then it is so heavy that it does not give effects as charming as those obtained with more pliable lace.

Trim, snugly fitted frocks or collars without attached fullness in great demand and now made in many attractive designs. These may be worn with various trills or merely with silk or satin cravats as a becoming flash to a blouse otherwise dark. Plaited collars of very fine lawn, buttoning straight up the front and turning down at the top, with a narrow hem of plain or figured color, are made up with turnover cuffs to match and are exceedingly attractive, as are frocks of the fine white lawn batiste, with narrow hems of plain color or of some fancy little stripe in white and color.

Collar and cuff sets are appearing in great variety for spring and summer purposes and are of all grades of elaboration, some of them being marvels of exquisite hand embroidery. Some dainty sets are double and therefore plaited, with narrow lace edging the frills and little embroidered dots scattered over the fine lawn.

Already the Louis XVI. model of hat has appeared in straw in one of the leading shops in Paris and soon such models will be seen in New York. Gardier is the venturesome person, who is also making a charming draped turban of simple straw, combined with flared satin. Straw hats of natural colored head and faced with black velvet will be the early spring models. During February and March, however, more shapes trimmed with velvet flowers will introduce the lighter hats. Huge flower-crowns, gardenias being the favorites, are now for the time being the entire shape is also fashioned of very dark blue velvet, with a rowette or quill of leaves, placed at the right.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

INSPIRING THOUGHTS.

By MARY RUSSELL.

In a conversation with a man who has had much experience in building homes for the moderately poor—that is, the people who live on small wages—I asked "Which is it that saves the money—the man or the woman?"

He looked at me seriously, and answered: "In 25 cases out of a hundred it's the woman. Where the man earns small wages, but hands it over to the wife to expend, the house is built and paid for but the man who earns the money, and thinks he has therefore the right to spend it, is the man who is usually helped through the winter by the charity organizations. Queer, isn't it? And yet all the funny papers have cartoons on the extravagance of women. And I'll tell you another odd thing. If the man dies—or perhaps grows tired of the game, and deserts—the woman, in some way, manages not to lose the little home. Some way she will scrape together the payment every month and never whimper. Let the woman die, however, or—let that's rare—get tired, and leave the man with a family on his hands, and you can make up your mind that you'll have a fortune on your hands in a few months. And yet they call the woman the weaker sex!"

It isn't so queer after all. Women are born home-makers and there is not one woman in fifty who does not desire a home. There need be no fear that there will be any change in this situation even if women get the suffrage.

How often do we see the man a failure in life and the woman uphold the family on her slender shoulders.

I believe in equal rights. That is not a declaration for suffrage only. Suffrage is merely part of the scheme of things.

The right to a good education, the right to a sound, healthy body for the girl reared through out door pursuits, just as a boy is made strong. The right to learn how to drive a car and the right to know how to follow a formula for bread-making if it is a boy. A right to understand what fatherhood means for the boy and what motherhood means for the girl. A right to earn a living wage for either boy or girl and a right to know that a home depends on a man, as well as a woman.

Half the men have no idea of how full and blessed is a home. Repression of all the merry life of the child which have stood the test of time deserve a place in the modern child's every day. Mothers are to-day ministering to their children the remedies their grandmothers used.

For thirty years, Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been saving the women of this country from the worst form of female ills, and merit alone could have stood such a test of time and won such an enviable record.

Jewelers and Music House

What a Grand Thing Memory Is...

In ancient times the Egyptians erected great pyramids to the memories of their departed kings. Today those same pyramids stand as wonders to the civilized world, preserving still the memories of the ancient kings.

In modern times, great works of art, in granite and other stone, and works more simple in design, are erected to preserve the memory of those gone beyond—and these marks of affection will remain for ages.

In the spring of the year the placing of Monuments is most frequent and it is advisable to place orders now for work of this nature.

To those who intend purchasing a marker or monument we direct attention to our excellent display and to the perfection of our designs and lettering. We suggest that you visit our display rooms.

FLIMSY PROOF OF
GAME VIOLATIONS

Does Not Suffice in Rock County—
Law's Inducements to Informers
Are Often Too Alluring.

That convictions in cases where the hunting laws of the state have been violated are almost impossible to secure in Rock county is a statement
frequently heard, especially in Madison,
and the justice of this statement
yesterday afternoon when the case against Jens Augustine, a minor, was dismissed on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

If the cases where, it is alleged, convictions could not be secured were similar to the one tried yesterday,
then the reason for the seeming leniency of the law is made plain to the most casual observer. It was the opinion of every listener at the trial,
that the case should never have been brought into court, for the evidence was vague, fragmentary and wholly insufficient to secure conviction before any jury in the county.

In the first place, on Jan. 11 a warrant was sworn out for Carl August-tine, a farmer residing near the town of Rock, by Deputy Game Warden W.
W. Burgett of Whitewater, who came from that city into Deputy Drake's territory for the purpose of arresting a man for an offense which it was claimed, was committed during the latter part of October. Augustine pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for Feb. 2.

Before his case was called Wednesday morning, it was found that he could not be held and another warrant was issued for his son, Jens, who is sixteen years old, and who, it was claimed, secured the muskrat hide.
The only evidence offered against the defendant was the testimony of H. E.
Clement, a fur buyer, and Ernest Dutcher of Whitewater, who buys elk. Although it is claimed that before they were put on the stand,
they made out a fair case to the district attorney against the defendant,
when they were examined by Augustine's attorney, T. S. Nolan, they could not produce a shred of proof that the animals had been trapped or that either the boy or his father had admitted that fact in their presence on Nov. 9.

Both the Augustines claimed that a dog belonging to them had caught the animals in question and that the boy had skinned them, tucked pelts on the wall of a corn crib and on that day had refused to sell them to Clement.

After Carl Augustine, Clement and Dutcher had been examined, Attorney
O. A. Costello, representing the state, stated that he could not ask the jury
for conviction on such flimsy evidence and the case was dismissed before even going to the jury. The men called to decide the case were: G. E.
Nawatt, C. J. Rice, Geo. W. Slightman,
W. W. Morris, L. H. Case and Herbert Holme.

It is generally believed, and the fact is borne out by the case tried yesterday, that the clause in the hunting laws which awards one third of the fine to the person discovering the offense, is responsible for many cases
being brought into court without sufficient evidence to secure conviction
or even make a good case. Informers, in their desire to secure part of the fine, jump to conclusions that may seem extremely probable at first, but when subjected to severe cross examination, will not stand.

LENTEN RULES FOR
ROMAN CATHOLICS

Only Those Whose Health Would Be Endangered Are Exempted From Fasting on All Days Save Sundays.

Rules and regulations for the guidance of the members of the Catholic congregations during the Lenten season have been sent out by Archbishop Messmer and will be read at the Mass on Sunday next. They are enclosed in the following letter:

Rev. Dear Father: Please announce to your people on the Sunday before Ash Wednesday, the following Lenten regulations:

All days of Lent from Ash Wednesday to Easter Sunday, Sundays excepted, are fast days of obligation for all the faithful who have attained their twenty-first year and are not otherwise lawfully dispensed.

The sick, the very poor, pregnant women, those nursing infants, and in general all who, because of old age, weak constitutions or hard labor, cannot fast without detriment to their health, are exempted from fasting.
Those exempted from fasting are not restricted in the use of meat on days
when it is allowed by dispensation at the principal meal.

Those obliged to fast are restricted to one full meal in the day, which should not ordinarily be taken before noon, and to a collation not exceeding the fourth part of any ordinary meal in the evening, though the use of some warm drink, such as tea, coffee or chocolate, with a small piece of bread in the morning is authorized.

Abstinence from flesh meat implied
in the precept of fasting is, in this diocese, dispensed with on Sunday without restriction, and on principal meals on all other days, except Wednesday, Fridays and the Saturday in Ember week and Holy week.

The use of fish with flesh meat is forbidden at the same meal, even on Sundays in Lent.

Lard, the fat rendered from any kind of meat, may be used in preparing food on all days during Lent and on all days of fast and abstinence
throughout the year.

The above dispensations from the general laws granted by an Indult of the Apostolic See, Aug. 3, 1887,
and subsequently renewed.

You will please explain to your people the dispensations also from the law of abstinence, in favor of workingmen, granted in an Indult of the Holy See, March 15, 1895, and renewed Feb. 25, 1905.

By virtue of this Indult workingmen and their families are permitted to use flesh meat once a day on all fast and abstinence days throughout the year, except Fridays, Ash Wednesday, Wednesday and Saturdays in Holy week, and the Vigil of Christmas.

Those availing themselves of this Indult are not allowed to use fish and flesh meat at the same meal. It is the earnest desire of the Holy See,
and ours as well, that they perform some other act of mortification, such as abstaining from intoxicating liquors or making a visit to the Blessed Sacrament.

You will please announce to your congregation the collection of the negro and Indian missions and the propagation of the faith which will be taken up the first Sunday in Lent.

The collection for the Holy Places in Palestine will be taken up at the services on Good Friday.

FORMER MONROE BOY

DROWNED IN EAST

Boat in Which Stanley Strader Was

Riding Capsize and Waves

Washed Him Off.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Monroe, Wis., Feb. 3.—Stanley Strader, son of John Strader, formerly of this city, was drowned at Britt, Va. in the Pamunkey river, together with the hired man on the farm,
which is famous in Virginia as the General Gordon farm. They started across the river in a row boat, which was capsize by the wind and high waves. They clung onto the boat for half an hour and were washed off
before assistance could reach them.

The young man was 23 years of age.
Mrs. Emory A. Odell leaves today
for old Mexico, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. J. J. Tschudy, at Colima, and will also visit Mexico City.
Mr. Tschudy is superintendent of a large plantation chiefly owned by Dr.
A. J. Dehaene of Chicago, who intends his annual visit there with a Chicago party next month. Mrs. Odell will return with the party.

Walter Dunlavy, who finished a term of 17 days in the circuit court,
will appear before Court Commissioner J.
D. Imwilde on Saturday for his discharge.

David H. Harmon, brother of T. J.
Harmon of this city, died at Irving Park, Ill., where he was superintendent of the post-office, a substation of Chicago. He was 64 years of age.
He was raised at Twin Grove, this county, and for thirty years was connected with the Chicago postoffice system.

Miss Marie Baumgartner of Albany,
and G. E. Schmidt of Lima, Ill., were married at Freeport.

Members of Co. H. have organized a club with Dr. F. L. Hodges as president; Mahlon Carndine, vice president; Roy Dodge, secretary; and M.
A. Mitchell, treasurer.

The directors of the Green County Benevolent society are holding their annual meeting here today. There are sixteen directors—one for every township in the county.

Miss Alice Travis was called to Forest, Ind., yesterday, by the illness of her sister, Mrs. H. N. Olliphant.

Mrs. W. W. Chadwick is visiting friends at Madison.

W. C. T. U. MOTHERS' MEETING

HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

At the Home of Mrs. Lynn Whaley

Was Well Attended and Very Interesting.

"Winter Problems" were discussed
at the W. C. T. U. Mothers' meeting which was held at the home of Mrs.
Lynn Whaley, 309 North Jackson street, yesterday afternoon. In addition to the papers and addresses a number of pleasing musical selections were rendered. There was a large attendance and the gathering proved very interesting and helpful.

ANNUAL CONTESTS OF

and O. S. Shepard will be the judges of the contest.

Patchen-Brooks
The marriage of Miss Merle Patchen and Earl W. Brooks occurred at seven-thirty o'clock last evening. The wedding took place at the Congregational parsonage, Rev. D. Q. Grabbill pronouncing the ceremony. They are to visit friends in Monroe and Allen Grove on their wedding trip
and when they return will commence housekeeping on the W. W. Gilles farm in Union. A host of friends extended congratulations and best wishes.

A. H. Shultz of Oregon was in this city last evening to hear Gov. E. W.
Hoek of Kansas, who spoke to a crowded audience in the opera-house.

Albert F. Gibbs has bought a lot on Main street adjoining Fred Winston on the east and expects to build on it in the near future.

Hart Baker and Warren Cain are in Milwaukee in attendance at the hardware convention.

The midwinter meeting of the executive board of the Evansville seminary will open tomorrow.

Miss Wehlole, a returned missionary, will give an address on "Missions" in the Congregational church
this evening. Rev. and Mrs. D. Q.
Grabbill are cousins and also will be a guest at their home, for a few weeks.

The Congregational Missionary society will meet at the home of Mrs.
V. C. Holmes, Thursday afternoon.

Drs. Smith and Ames have both purchased Buick automobiles.

ENTERTAINMENT BY

CHILDREN OF MARY

At K. of C. Hall Last Evening Was Thoroughly Appreciated and Enjoyed by a Large Audience.

There was a large attendance at the fifth annual entertainment given by the Children of Mary society of St.
Patrick's church at the Knights of Columbia hall in the Jackson block last evening and the program which was prepared under the direction of the Rev. Father James McGinty, was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone present.

Miss Laura Connell presided
and announced the various numbers in an original and pleasing fashion. The offerings included piano solo by the Misses Nellie Harrison and Harriet Mulligan; recitations by Johnna Hayes, Margaret Denning,
Margaret Roberts, Beatrice Kelly,
Marion Nelson, and Florence Weber;
vocal duets by Clara and Mary Hall, Gertrude Cassidy and Marie Dome-
lune; a vocal solo by Martha Dooley;
a piano duet by Anna Peschi and Grace Gilmore; and a violin solo by Ethel Crowley. At the conclusion of the program tempting refreshments were served to the one hundred young ladies belonging to the society
who were present at the entertainment.

No excuse for it.

"I suppose," said a sympathetic neighbor, "that you will erect a handsome monument to your husband's memory?" "To his memory?" echoed the tearful widow. "Why, poor John hadn't any. I was sorting over some of his clothes to-day and I found the pockets full of letters I had given him to post."—Human Life.

FISHING FOR PIGS
IN PENNSYLVANIA

J. P. Albree, the Well-Known Civil War Veteran and Pearl-Fisher, Relates Unusual Experience
in Own Way.

One must fish or eat bait. Never yield to temptation and flick a pig's ear with a dangling hook. Give heed to J. P. Albree's recital of a barrowing experience in the wilds of Western Pennsylvania:

Editor of Gazette: Far down on the western slope of the Alleghenies is a low, green valley where I've whiled many happy hours away. Down the valley meanders a bright, rippling stream known as the Koonqueshing (an Indian name which means Wandering Maiden, or something of the kind).

A few years ago, one balmy day of sunshine and showers, late in May,
armed and equipped with rod and line
and a small quantity of bait and hook,
I went upon doing some of business with the funny natives. I lollered along down stream some miles, getting but few bites, it being too early for musquitos and likewise for fish.

Lazily walking along the bank,
eyes on the water, a rustling sound
attracted my attention to one side, and beneath the trees I beheld an old lady pig nosing around among the leaves. Nearby, on a little patch of sunshine, arranged in a sort of a group, were her rollypoly babies—
looking so cute in their neat-fitting,
clean little polka-dot pajamas; looking so demure with their little eyes half shut and with almost a smile on their faces; looking for all the world as some young ladies do when they are plotting mischief and ready for almost any kind of fun.

I raised my fishing rod, swung the line around over them, and gently lowered it until it touched one of them on the back. Up jumped the baby porter with a little squeal. But after it had turned around quickly two or three times it stood quietly, apparently waiting for another touch.

I kept up the amusement for some time. Then, for a change, I thought to touch one of them on its ear. But there is where I went too far. For, about three times quicker than lightning it threw its little head around and grabbed the hook. And then I was in for it. For my ill-timed result to do only one thing, the cruel barb solidly in its poor little pink lip.

Of course the baby howled sharp
and loud and it didn't take the old lady long to respond to the alarm.
And it didn't take her long to become satisfied that I had something to do with the trouble. She sprang towards me with her mouth open, giving voice to expressions of "Woof! Woof!"
and other hog Latin in a very threatening fashion. I hopped into the water quicker than I can tell it.

There was a predicament for a meddler who, after all, had some humane instincts down at bottom. I couldn't go away and leave the little creature to suffer and it didn't appear to be advisable to go ashore, even on an errand of mercy, while the old lady entertained her unpleasant opinion of
me. To try to get the little fellow into the water with me seemed to be the only solution of the problem.

So I pulled gently and worked my crotch to the bank, where it soon fell into the water. Simultaneously, however, the old lady made the high dive and started straight for me. I had to back into deep water and be quick about it, too. It developed that the old lady did not care to swim and so I was comparatively safe.

THE FOURTH ESTATE

Novelized by
FREDERICK R. TOOMBS
From the Great Play
of the Same Name by Joseph Medill Patterson
and Harriet Ford.

Copyright, 1909, by Joseph Medill Patterson and Harriet Ford.

"I'll keep them as evidence," he said. "When they have served their purpose we will return them to you, or maybe we will send them to the minority stockholders in the Lansing Iron company. That's who the money probably belongs to."

Barthelmy accepted the situation with stoical composure for the time. He saw that he would have no chance in a hand to hand struggle with the young athletic editor for possession of the money. Besides, he must see Nolan—must see him at once. That was the most important matter to which he should now attend.

He walked deliberately to the closet and secured his hat and coat. He turned the key, and went out of the door leading to the outer hall.

As the judge disappeared Wheeler Brand sank heavily into his chair. He

"You count the money, Judge," spread his arms on his desk and bowed his head between them until his cheek rested on the cool polished surface.

"Judith, Judith!" he sobbed, and his body shook uncontrollably as he wept for the girl he loved.

CHAPTER XII.
MIDNIGHT in the rooms of a leading daily paper in a big city is not a time when peaceful slumber is in order for those who are concerned in the business of producing the paper. It is the time when trained brains and trained hands are exerted to the extreme limit of their capacity to get the very latest news into slugs, into type, into the press, into the mail wagons and "on the street."

And it is in the composing room where the brunt of the battle is borne in the final hours in which is completed the record of a world's doings and undings for a day. Masses of "copy" swirl upward in the tubes or are carried in by boys from the city editorial room. The typesetting machines click, click, in unceasing monotony, and the proofreaders scan columns of "green proofs" with a rapidity, when under pressure, that would amaze the uninitiated observer. The "makeup" men cluster around the cumbersome tables or "stones" on which the forms are made up, lifting in the metal lines of type here, making corrections or shifting cuts there and locking the forms to be slung into the stereotyping room, where the paper matrices will be made. When the matrix is placed in the casting box the molten stereotype metal is poured in, and within a very few minutes the cylindrical plates, hardened quickly in the casting box by the pouring of cold water into the jacket, are locked on the cylinders of the gigantic duodecimo press and ready to whirl off over 100 copies of a paper per second, all printed, pasted, folded and counted.

Midnight in the offices of the Advance on the night that Judge Barthelmy's photograph was taken with $100,000 of bribe money in his hands found the staff of the paper in all departments working as probably they had never worked before, except on election night. The story required considerable time for preparation. The notes of Howard and Jeff, the two reporters who recorded the conversation of Brand and Barthelmy, had to be translated from shorthand into English. Then an introduction and a head had to be written, and the art department had to break all previous records in turning out a cut made from the photograph resulting from the flashlight.

In the composing room men were working like galley slaves to get the great Barthelmy exposure story into type and into the forms. The composing room in the Advance building was a "double decker"—i. e., a second story had been built in the rear part of the room to accommodate the proofreaders. This second story was really but a half story, extending out over a portion of the composing room, and the walls were partitions, the lower half of wood and the upper half of glass windows.

On the lower floor the linotype machines were set in rows. A steam table loomed on one side. On another table, an ironbound one, rested the galley containing matter for the night's edition of the paper. At the extreme left of the room a wooden partition shut off the small office that the managing editor used at night when he superintended the makeup proceedings. A door opened into this small room from the outer hall, close to a door opening from the hall into the composing room itself. At the opposite end of the compartment a door opened into the composing room. In his small enclosure Brand, the managing editor, had a desk and a telephone. Adjoining the partition, which shut him off from the composing room and on the outside of it, was a desk used by the copy cutters, who cut the pages of manuscript after they had been pasted together into "takes." A take is one of the sections into which a story is cut, so that several compositors can work on different parts of the same story simultaneously, resulting in the saving of considerable time in setting it up.

The typesetting machines clicked off rapidly the words, sentences and paragraphs of the Barthelmy "beat" and the other stories which had to be crowded into the "mail edition." Brand was in his little room at the right, reading the proof of the acquisition of the United States judge, which introduction he had chosen to write himself. McHenry, the deposed managing editor and now Brand's assistant, was at the forms with the makeup men.

A boy rushed in with a cut for McHenry. The busy editor squinted at it and waved the boy to one side.

"Why do they send us this baled hay when we've got a live one?" he said disgustedly.

Down came in from the city room. "That Clinton street lire is getting better every minute," he said to McHenry. "We ought to have at least four columns on it."

McHenry glared at the speaker. "Are you crazy, man?" he exclaimed. "Do you think we use rubber type? You'll have to keep it in three."

Down was disabused.

"All right. This shop is going to the d—!" he answered, shaking his head negatively. He went out of the composing room.

McHenry went over to one of the makeup stones.

"Where are the cuts for the Chicago and Bryan jump heads? I can't find them anywhere," he asked.

"Here they are," answered one of the makeup men.

"All right. They go there," he pointed to a space in one of the forms as a boy handed him another cut. McHenry held it up to the light and hurried into Brand's office with it. He laid it proudly on the managing editor's desk.

"That's a wonder, Mac!" pronounced Brand.

McHenry agreed.

"Yes; you can almost count the money in old Barthelmy's hand," he exclaimed, and he peered closely once more at the metal slab.

Brand meditated a moment.

"I'm going to change the makeup on that page," he decided. "Put this cut at the top of the page, so that when the papers are folded on the newsstands every one that passes by will see Barthelmy offering a bribe of $100,000 to suppress the truth about himself. It's your story all up yet?"

"Yes, it's in the form."

"Then go flush it off and send it down to the stereotyping room."

McHenry turned away.

"Won't this make the Patriot sick?" he said as he left. "They'd give the shirts off their backs to bent us on a story like this or to keep us from doing it to them."

As McHenry went out of the door into the composing room Sylvester Nolan dashed into Brand's room from the hall through the other door. The lad was plainly excited, his face showing an amount of animation that, for him, was a decided novelty. His eyes flashed and his breath came in short gasps, indicating that he had been hurrying.

"Where's my father, Mr. Brand? Where is he?" he gasped.

Brand suspected something of the Nolan son's errand.

"I'm afraid you'll have to find him," was the only information he chose to impart.

Young Nolan drew close to the desk at which the managing editor was working.

"Judge Barthelmy wants him," he exclaimed. "The judge, the judge! Don't you understand?"

"Does he?" asked Brand with utmost unconcern.

Sylvester grew impatient at his father's employee who dared assume indifference toward his father's only son.

"I want to know where he is," he demanded.

"Well, I can't tell you," Brand rose and stepped away, with Sylvester following him.

"I understand that you are going to publish something about the judge that's beyond the limit," said the son. "Possibly."

"Well, this thing's gone far enough."

"That cut is a wonder, Mac!"

snapped Sylvester. "In the absence of my father I forbid it. Do you hear?"

Brand took up a bundle of proofs and moved to the door.

"I'm afraid I can't take orders from you," he said, and he stepped calmly into the composing room.

Sylvester, nonplussed, looked about uncertainly for a moment. Then, with a sudden thought, he went to the telephone.

He placed the receiver at his ear.

"Hello! Hello! I'm Mr. Sylvester Nolan. Get me the house on the wire, please." An office boy entered. "What do you mean by trying to prevent me from coming up here?" asked young Nolan.
